

America's Beginning: A Historical Coloring Journey

This coloring page introduces young students to important symbols and figures from early American history in a simplified, engaging format.

Instructions:

Color each part of the picture using the suggested colors or choose your own. As you color, read the fun facts with a grown-up!

Coloring Guide:

American Flag:

Color the stars blue and the stripes red and white

Liberty Bell:

Color the bell a golden brown color

Colonial Houses:

Color the houses with brown, white, or red colors

Children's Clothing:

Color the colonial outfits with simple colors

Image Description:

A composition showing the American flag being sewn by Betsy Ross, the Liberty Bell, a simplified colonial village with small houses, and children in colonial clothing playing games.

Coloring Page

Did You Know?

- The American flag has 50 stars for our 50 states
- The Liberty Bell is an important symbol of American freedom
- In colonial times, children helped with chores and played different games than we do today
- America officially became a country in 1776

Target Skills: Historical awareness, Fine motor skills, Symbol recognition